

AWP Roundtable: Water Diplomacy

Wednesday 22 September, 1–2.30pm AEST

Australia – water partners for development

Agenda

- 1:00–1:10     Introduction Tamerlaine Beasley, MC, Beasley Intercultural
- 1:10-1:20     Why water diplomacy needs transdisciplinary approaches
Nandita Baruah, The Asia Foundation's Country Representative in New Delhi, India
- 1:20–1:30     The role of water diplomacy in development interventions
Dr John Dore, Lead Water Specialist for Australia's Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade
- 1:30-1:40     How can water diplomacy achieve results?
Tony Slatyer, Founding member, Water Policy Group
- 1:40–2:15     Q&A, Discussion
- 2:15–2:30     Closing remarks, Michael Wilson, Australian Water Partnership

Welcome and Introductions

Tamerlaine Beasley

MC, Beasley Intercultural

Nandita Baruah

The Asia Foundation
Country Representative, India

Dr John Dore

DFAT Lead Water Specialist

Tony Slatyer

Founding member, Water Policy Group

Your experience of water diplomacy and interest in this session

Please use your mobile device or open another page in your web browser to go to menti.com, enter the code 8735 5728 and respond to the questions provided.

Your responses will remain anonymous, however they will be aggregated and shared with the group here.

Why water diplomacy needs transdisciplinary approaches

Nandita Baruah

The Asia Foundation, Country Representative, India

The role of water diplomacy in development interventions

Dr John Dore

DFAT Lead Water Specialist

How can water diplomacy achieve results?

Tony Slatyer

Founding member, Water Policy Group

Q&A Discussion

Please enter in chat

What is one action or idea you will take away from today's roundtable?

Australia

water partners for development

 @WaterPartnersAU  /australianwaterpartnership  /company/water-partners-au

The Australian Water Partnership is supported by the Australian Government and managed by eWater Ltd

waterpartnership.org.au

The logo for The Australian Water Partnership, consisting of a solid red rectangular box. Inside the box, the words "THE AUSTRALIAN WATER PARTNERSHIP" are written in white, uppercase, sans-serif font, stacked in four lines.